

This year things looked much brighter for the band. With a new band director, Mr. David Buchanan, many changes took place. During December, they had a cookie sale raising more than two thousand dollars which was used to purchase new uniforms. They marched in the Christmas Parade and performed at the P.T.O. Christmas program. The band received a standing ovation from supporters after they performed at the Homecoming game. Though small in size, the band certainly grew in spirit.

Drum Major Lara Craven waits for her cue to begin directing the halftime music.

Mr. Buchanan helps Toni Hooker and Patrick Dantzler read their music.

Duke Hipp and Toby Hinton practice for the upcoming game.