ghouls, goblins, bingo, Haunted Houses, vampire costumes, BOO!, apple bob, "trick or treat!"

OOOOOO

M. Burros looks creepy in this coffin.

These third graders love dressing-up.

Seniors get involved in Halloween!

What a great October carnival!

Are we on Freddy's Elm Street?

These juniors are waiting for you!

Halloween brought out the true personalities of the students of John C. Seniors enjoyed the tradition of dressing up in costumes ranging from bag ladies to babies, mice to clowns, and Pocohontas to ghouls. Some of the kids in the lower school adorned "California Raisin" costumes and had Halloween parties.

As usual, John C. had a fantastic Halloween Carnival with bingo, "go fish", apple bobbing, and tic tac toe. The eighth grade class had a face painting booth and the seniors sponsored a sponge toss. The main attraction, though, was the junior's Haunted House. It had many of your nightmares come true, including scenes with "Jason", "Freddy Kruger", and Vampires.
