

The War Hawks were always working together as a team. Matt Free, a Junior, grabs hold to both of the opponents feet and Senior, Michael Ritter, comes from the side to be sure that he falls to the ground before gaining any extra yardage.

Head Coach, "Doc" Lewis always made sure that the Hawks were given fair treatment. The referee calmly listens to the coach tell him the way he thought the play should have been called.

My best memory was scoring my first touchdown against Clarendon Hall.
— Wayne Crosby

I learned no matter what challenges I face in life, just do the best I can.
— Scott Craven