

The Storyteller

Miss Che shepard, a story-teller from Charleston, spent a week with us at Smoaks Middle school. Miss Shepeard did many fun things with the students. She taught them the love solution, which tells you the things to do so everyone can get along. She also read them a very inspirational story called The Eagles Who Thought They Were Chickens, it was a story about not letting others put you down and boss you around, it also gives you the idea that you are an eagle and to spread your wings and soar high into the sky. during the session the students wrote stories and Miss Shepeard said she really enjoyed them. On Thursday, we had an assembly and Miss Shepeard went over all of the things she taught us in the sessions. It was really fun. I think it was a blessing to have Miss Shepeard here and I certainly would like to thank her for coming and sharing with us.
