

a Tribute...

We of the Roundup Staff, acting as historians of the school, think the moment has arrived to pay tribute to two of the finest citizens of our superior faculty. For many years, these two hard working, self-sacrificing educators have put in many hours, much of it on their own time, in order that the school could preserve its high prestige and rank in their particular department. Working separately, each has high creative ability, and combined, this fabulous duo can and does produce material of Broadway caliber.

Who are these two? They are none other than Miss Leontone Meyer and Mr. Libero Monachesi. Without the help of these two, the SW music groups would not enjoy the high prestige and dignity that they do today. In the past years, these two have proved to be invaluable to SW.

Miss Meyer, the capable director of the vocal groups, is a much respected member of the faculty, and has given many services to the school. In these past years, she has provided an excellent foundation for many a young promising "Caruso" and "Helen Trauble." Many SW alumni who are in the field of music today owe their success to her.

Mr. Monachesi, a distinguished musician in his own right, is solely responsible for the continuing success of the instrumental department. Monty, as he is called by his students, is a kind and generous person, eager to give a helping hand to any of his numerous students. In addition to enabling students to enjoy and study music, he has also set the foundation for many students planning to enter the field of music. The numerous students who have succeeded in music today owe their excellent training to Monty.

So in this closing paragraph, we of the Roundup Staff wish to salute Miss Meyer and Mr. Monachesi. SW is indebted to them for their unceasing devotion to their students and their school.
