

Senior Student Council

The Senior Student Council of 1959-60 may be characterized by its extraordinary ambition. Several "Webster firsts" were achieved by the council this year. Perhaps the most outstanding of these was the topping of our $13,000 magazine sales goal. Did I hear someone say that the theme of the sales was the "Unlucky Thirteen?"

Council meetings were called to order every other day by Charles Cary and Allan Mc-Artor. Under their leadership the council carried out many of the school activities. The first business of the year included Hello Week and Football Week. The traditional pep rally, bonfire, and torchlight parade were under the joint supervision of the Pep Rally and Color Day Committees. Later in the year such activities as the "World Fair" Dance Carnival were planned.

Due to the efforts of this year's and last year's Student Councils we were able to have Webster High's first foreign exchange student, Niels Bo Poulsen.

Those sophomore girls!

Junior Student Council

Let's hear it!

An active Student Council? You bet! This year's council worked particularly hard on new activities.

The council members started their year by decorating the junior school showcase and by generally raising school spirit. December proved to be an exceptionally busy month. The members sponsored a Christmas toy drive, held by the seventh, eighth, and ninth graders. Also in December the Junior School was given a column in The Webster Echo, and a council committee kept the column filled with junior school news. December eighteenth wrapped up a busy month for an active council; this was the date of the sock hop held in the junior girls' gym.

During the second semester the representatives kept things rolling at a rapid pace for all junior schoolers. As in the past they entered a booth in the Dance Carnival and also held joint meetings with the Hixson Student Council.
