Smashed hit.

Emerging triumphantly from the robe room of 117 with one stole (slightly soiled), one collar (minus snaps), and one robe (measured to fit), each Beginning Choir member braced himself for the year ahead. It began with an informal outdoor gathering at Lynden Hanger's home where skits were presented enabling the new members to become better acquainted with each other.

Candles in hand, they rhythmically swayed down the dimly lighted aisles in the Christmas Vesper Services. Their beautiful performance was the reward of many weeks of hard work, learning to blend their voices and to sing as a group.

After Christmas they worked on familiar choir songs and arrangements for spring programs. This "bestest" choir toured several grade schools in addition to taking part in the spring show presented by the A Cappella Choir.
