

Bulldogs Capture Winning Season

Melvin Williamson is chased and eventually tagged out in a 2-1 loss to Summerville.

"We were in every game this year down to the final out. Of the 7 games we lost, six were by a margin of only one run and the other by two," lamented Coach Bradley at the end of the '74 baseball season.

Consistent pitching and explosive hitting were key factors in the Bulldogs' success. The young, enthusiastic team achieved their stated goal of a winning season by posting an 11-7 record.

The close-knit team depended on pitchers Mike Drawdy, Robbie Robertson, and Raymond Ford to silence the opposing teams' bats. The successful pitching threesome never yielded more than 4 runs in any one game. Mike Drawdy led the pitching squad with a record of 8-2. Veterans Jackie Ramsey and Lester Jordan led the Bulldogs' explosive hitting attack in a 17-0 shutout against Wando and an impressive victory over Roberts, 14-2.

Raymond Ford relieves Mike Drawdy in a 2-1 loss to St. Andrews.

Mike Price grabs for the bag at first base in a 4-3 decision over Goose Creek.
