

Scholars

1. Furman Scholars are selected on the basis of leadership, ability, and academic achievement. Furman Scholars are Chris Seip, Alice Bey, Connie Nesbitt, and Wayne Wilson.

2. Being named a South Carolina Governor's Scholar is one of a high school student's greatest honors. Each year 280 juniors and seniors from across South Carolina are selected for outstanding academic achievement.

These students attend a six weeks college-level program at the College of Charleston. Governor's Scholars from WHS are Wayne Wilson, Russell Jones, Wayne Robertson, and Chris Seip.

3. Wofford Scholars must attain high academic standing. These individuals have the privilege to compete for special scholarships at Wofford College. Wofford Scholars are Emily Dodd, Jacob Teasdell, Connie Nesbitt, and Wayne Wilson.
