

Below: The Fifties never looked so good, but then again the fifties never had these Walterboro High School students

FROM OLD TO NEW

Above: David Pollard said we should have a Dress Up Day more often because Valarie Williams, Jessica Fields, Annie Lawton, and Jackie Gant sure look good!

28 / Homecoming

The Fifties Day and Dress Up Day at Walterboro High School showed that the students could do the "old" or "bring in the new."

Most students who participated in the fifties agreed that their parents enjoyed Fifties Day much as we do. It brought back memories of their high school days and those unforgettable "hops." Penny loafers, varsity sweaters, bobby socks and leather jackets were all brought down from the top of the closet. One by one the leather jackets and bobby socks appeared. We had to admit that long skirts and work pants didn't look too bad. They also were rather comfortable. But most of the female students preferred their old blue jeans to long skirts. When it came down to the real facts all enjoyed fifties day. But so does the rest of the country because today's fashions still reflect some of the good old Fifties.

The Walterboro High students went from Fifties to Dress Up Day with a touch of class. The suits and dresses added an extra touch of beauty to Walterboro High. The guys wore suits that ranged from blue to white in color. And the young ladies were truly beautiful.

Because of the great support of both days we should be proud of ourselves and our school spirit.