

*Rose M. Bolds, Green-pond, South Carolina,
S.C. State College, Math
II, Pre-Algebra.*

*Andrew Bomar, Walter-
boro, South Carolina,
Clemson University, Building Construction.*

Chuck Booth, Princeton, West Virginia, Concord College, College of Charleston, Resource (English, Math, History).

Mrs. Mary Drayton Bowden, Walterboro, South Carolina, Benedict College, Mathematics and History.

*H. M. Bowers, Walter-
boro, South Carolina, Baptist College, English.*

Ester L. G. Bright, Loris, South Carolina, Benedict College, S.C. State College, Introduction to Business; Typing; Social Studies; Economics.

"Young People Keep Me Feeling Young"

Mrs. Carol Godwin, native of Walterboro, has been working at WHS for about 20 years. She enjoys bridge, bicycling, needlepoint, crochet, leading, and tennis.

Over the summer, Mrs. Godwin entered in two ladies doubles tournaments, and was runner-up to the champions both times. She feels that the hardest part of the game is running. She keeps in shape for her tennis games by riding her bike or running a mile every day. This past summer she also learned to ride a motorcycle. Although she can only go 15 miles per hour, Mrs. Godwin enjoys her scary pastime activity anyhow. When asked what persuaded her to try, she replied, "The high gas prices did! I would like to get good enough to drive it to school."

During Mrs. Godwin's 20 years as librarian, she found that books that deal with self-improvement are her favorite. She enjoys helping the students because, "young people keep me feeling young."

Mrs. Godwin looks like she's ready for "CHIPS."