

After the hassle of graduation, Carla Thomas and her mother, Anne, share a laugh of relief in the gym to release pent-up stress.

Lined up and ready to march, Peggy Bowman, Edith Bowman, Erica Booth and Robert Beverly anxiously await the commencement exercises.

An excited Paul Thomas receives some helpful comments from Mrs. George on graduation night.

In preparation for graduation, Lori Adams writes her name on a piece of tape to place in the seat of her chair, while Scott Adams and Jeff Bailey socialize.