

The

FUN

Started In . . .

IN SEARCH OF "FUN": CONTINUED

The search for fun continued throughout the year. Although the investigators worked doggedly, it became evident that they were always one step behind capturing fun. The investigation seemed to have come to a standstill, until a new lead was introduced. Mrs. Bodison decided that the students could provide some information on the whereabouts of fun. The squad readily agreed. They scanned the People section for the possible leads. By diligently listening to various classroom discussions, they discovered that many students had seen fun while hanging out with their friends. "Fun is just making the most of a dull moment," they heard Shawn Geddis say.

The new lead caused much excitement at the investigation headquarters.

