

What Do You Think?

Q: What did you do Rice Festival weekend?

“Being a Rice Planter, I devoted much of my time to helping others,” said senior Melody Lyons.

“I spent my time with my friends and touring Main St.,” said freshmen Sarah Mitchner.

Working at the cheerleading booth, the “nameless” bulldog and varsity cheerleader Angie Drawdy look at the crowds of people walking on Washington Street. People were able to vote for the bulldog’s name and have their picture taken with him.

Winners from the Rice Festival pageant wave to the crowd. Former Walterboro High student Christy Moseley was crowned Miss Rice.
