Educating Others for a Drug-Free Tomorrow

During the last decade drug and alcohol prevention became a major concern in our country. Organizations such as Dogs Against Drugs, Booze Cruise Lose, Teens Need Teens, and Just Say No have led the battle for prevention of drug and alcohol abuse.

such as Red Ribbon Week, a drug prevention kick-off program.

Booze Cruise Lose was an organization dedicated not only to prevention but to the recognition of the consequences of using alcohol and drugs.

“When it comes to prevention we want everyone involved.”

— Willie Davis

“We want to make people aware of what drinking and driving does,” said Booze Cruise Lose member, Matt Hooker.

BCL did everything from giving statistics concerning drug and alcohol abuse to exhibiting a wrecked car at a football game to portray the message that drugs kill.

Headed by Mr. Willie Davis, Dogs Against Drugs was an organization based mainly on the purpose of building the self-esteem of youngsters and to give them alternatives to abusing alcohol and drugs. During the course of the year Dogs Against Drugs sponsored many anti-drug activities
