

Seniors Cokeitha James, Kimbe Carter, and Angie Drawdy along with fellow chorus members perform the National Anthem and Alma Mater. The chorus was under the direction of Stephanie Drawdy.

A NIGHT TO REMEMBER

Homecoming Queen announced on Wednesday? That was just one of the changes about Homecoming. Not only was the queen's name revealed before the Homecoming Game, but also senior football players were not allowed to escort their sponsors in the pre-game festivities. The senior football players' representatives and senior cheerleaders escorted their sponsors on the field. The sophomores organized one of the best Spirit Weeks in recent years, and by Friday a near-explosive atmosphere could be felt throughout the school.

The stadium was packed to capacity as the team took on Burke. With both football teams undefeated coming into the game, many area television stations considered the match to be the game of the week. "We all knew coming into the game the importance of the outcome and how it could determine the rest of our season," said senior Chris Brownlee. This was the first time in four years Burke had competed on a AAAA level.

During halftime the Band of Blue rendered a superior program. This Homecoming performance was the twentieth annual appearance for Director Bill Young and the first for Joe Meschach, the new assistant band director.

During halftime the Homecoming Queen and class attendants were presented. The Homecoming Queen had been voted on Monday by the Senior Class from among 20 girls.

The attendants were selected by their respective classes. Senior Kim Lyles, sponsored by Trent Cannady, Jr., was crowned the 1992 Homecoming Queen by Principal Bob Pence. The attendants were Monecia Elliott, the Freshman Class; Jenny Sarvis, the Sophomore Class; Suzette Miller, the Junior Class; and Becky Dandridge, Senior Class.

Although the battle between the two unbeaten teams had received a lot of media hype, in a real dogfight, the WHS dogs crushed the Burke Dogs 34-6.

— Brian Gwin

The football team is victorious over the Burke Bulldogs 34-6. The Dogs' offensive backfield rushed for 345 yards in the Homecoming effort.