

WE'VE GOT SPIRIT YES WE DO!

Football Fridays were commonly known as Blue and White Day. On these days, faculty and students alike were encouraged to show their Bulldog spirit by donning blue and white garments. At each pep rally, the J.V. and varsity cheerleaders performed many cheers to boost school spirit.

A spirit contest among the classes was held at each pep rally. The Class of '96 and its advisors really showed their spirit by the display of the class banner at each pep rally. Not only the Class of '96 but all other classes rocked the bleachers and yelled as loudly as possible to show school spirit. The Band of Blue, which recently received an invitation to march in the 1994 Rose Bowl Parade, played many up-tempo songs to get students moving.

Discussing football strategies are senior Chris Brownlee and junior Shamgar McDowell. Both showed academic success as members of the National Honor Society.

The pep rally before the Summerville game proved to be a real treat. Senior Jamie Kaye performed a skit in which he surfed right over the Greenwave.

"I thought it was really cool to show my spirit by participating in the pep rally," said Jamie.

Football players appreciated the school's support.

"The pep rallies allowed students to show their support for the team. Their support really helped me play harder," said senior Kenyatta

Spruill, who played in the annual North-South game.

Planning for the pep rallies proved to be a real job for the cheerleaders, who were responsible for the skits performed at each rally.

"Planning for the pep rallies was a lot of fun," said senior Becky Dandridge. "I was glad to see strong response from the student body."

Seniors Kim Lyles and Becky Dandridge, along with sophomore Jenny Sarvis, perform a cheer for the student body. Kim was Miss Homecoming and Becky and Jenny were members of the Homecoming Court.
