

The Secret of Success

The secret that everyone wanted to discover in life was the secret of success. Success could be judged by the achiever on the basis of what made him or her truly happy. Despite the many different views of success, the Senior Class agreed that Gail Rearden and Wilmar Stephens were "Most Likely to Succeed."

Both Wilmar and Gail were members of the Band of Blue, All-State Band, Region Band, the SAT 1000+ Club, the Academic Team, Who's Who, Student Council, NHS, and the Drama Club. They were also National Achievement Semi-finalists, Golden Paw Award recipients, Governor's School for Academic scholars.

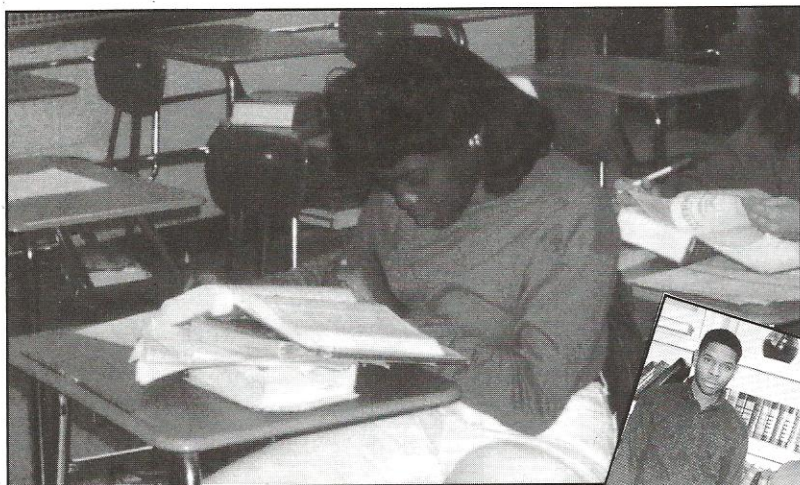

Gail served as Assistant Band Captain, alternate for Girls' State and nominee for Governor's School for the Arts. She planned to attend Emory University and major in biology before going on to medical school to become a doctor.

"By participating in numerous school functions, I have gotten more out of the high school experience and the most of what the school has to offer because I have gone beyond the call of duty," Gail concluded.

Wilmar was a member of the Astronomy and Computer Clubs as well as President of NHS. He, too, planned a career in medicine.

"Although it is good to enjoy the moment, it is imperative that we think long-range," Wilmar stated.

— Karen Beach

Gail Rearden works diligently during AP English. Gail took English under Janis Blocker for two years.

Wilmar Stephens and Gail Rearden take time out to pose for a picture. Wilmar and Gail were both in the top of their class.

