

Mrs. Julia Waddell demonstrates stained glass for the art club while members senior Brenda Thompson and junior Tabbie Gardner watch. Members of the art club entered art contests and painted murals around the school displaying their talents.

So Much to Do!

With 24 clubs to choose from, just about everyone could find a place to go on club days. Clubs provided a way for students to get more involved in the school and to cultivate special interests.

The French Club spent nine days in Europe visiting France, Spain, and Switzerland. The club had been preparing for the trip since the 1993-94 school year.

"We had a great time in France," said senior Julie Anderson. "I didn't want to come back to the States."

The Drama Club performed the gospel play Someone Who Cares, written by sophomore Chiquita Glenn and junior Shon Johnson, in May. The play included a gospel choir that sang four gospel songs.

Many clubs participated in service projects like Adopt-A-Highway or Special Olympics. Fundraisers included donut and candy sales, carwashes, and in-school dances.

"I enjoyed working with Jr. Civitans," said junior Ashley Heaton. "We helped with Special Olympics, visited the nursing home, and had a canned-food drive."

"Clubs are a good way to get more involved in the school and to meet new people," said senior Waylon Cain.

The clubs were the Art Club, Astronomy Club, BEC, Chess Club, Computer Club, COVERT, DEC, Drama Club, FBLA, FCA, FFA, FTA, History Club, JETS, Junior Civitans, Key Club, Dogs Against Drugs, Modeling Club, Science Club, Spirit Club, French Club, Teens & Teens, and the Teenage Republicans.

— Jennifer Babilon

