

Face off. Waiting for their lunches to arrive, senior teacher cadets Emily Risher and Regina Nesbitt discuss their classes. Both girls were interested in pursuing careers in the teaching field.

Teamwork. Dressed in Halloween attire, junior Ana Matheson plays Solitaire with the help of sophomore Alice Bickley. The two girls became friends in journalism class.

During the school year, there were many opportunities for you to show who you really were. Football games in the fall gave you the chance to show your school spirit, especially during Homecoming week. Holidays throughout the year brought relief to the monotony of the everyday school routine. In the spring, you could always look forward to Spring Break and Rice Festival, and a few weeks later to the Prom and graduation. Perhaps the things that made student life the best were the people met and the friendships made.

— Ashley Heaton and Leah Steele