

Charming chat. Before school every morning, juniors Randon Davis and Mary Caroline Wilkinson usually walk to the bathroom to make sure they look their best. "I don't understand why people can't refrain from writing on the bathroom walls," said Randon, "I think I know every girl's life story by now!"

Busted. Cleaning computers during his lunch, senior Wes West suffers through his punishment for chewing gum during class. Ms. Edwards had a strict policy against gum. "I will never chew gum in her class again," said Wes.

Seizing the moment. During his break, Coach Reid looks at football information on his computer. "We don't have enough computer people. We are reliant on few computer people which isn't fair to them," said Coach Reid. He usually managed by fixing things on his own.
